ABOUT MAIL ORDER HOUSES.

Why We Have Them and How They Do So Much Business.

Hardly a day passes but there is a shipment into every town of a large amount of goods purchased of the big mail order houses at Chicago. Those who buy claim they save money on their purchases. You will never find one who will admit that he lost money or got inferior goods.

Neither could you find a man who would admit that he had bought a gold brick, if there were those in this community foolish enough to so invest good money for a plated piece of copper.

On the other hand, if a local merchant over-charges or sells an article that does not prove standard, he is berated up and down the width and breadth of the county.

This simply proves that the mail order houses are given protection in their dealings, which is of great commercial advantage to them, while the local merchant is taken to task for every short-coming and it is disastrous to his interests.

An unkind word will travel farther and go faster than one hundred words of praise.

An unkind word is gossip, gossip in the granary; gossip in the work shop and in the home and on the streets.

Why not apply this gossip to some of the large mail order firms.

If you have been bitten by them why not tell your neighbors?

I have tested these firms. It was once a part of my business to buy of these people to see what they had to offer and to learn their business methods. I once paid 75 cents for a hose attachment to a bath-tub. The same article was sold locally for 50 cents. Together with postage on letter, and package and paper and envelope I was "did" out of 31 cents.

One firm has a business of $25,000,000 a year. They spend close to a million for their catalogue and catalogue postage. Their newspaper advertising costs them at least another million, and rent, operating expenses, clerical hire, insurance, etc., must cost them another million. At least 25 per cent of their sales must be charged to selling cost.

Now go to a local merchant—for instance, say that you were buying a farm wagon or a kitchen range, and ask the merchant to show you what he actually paid the manufacturer for the wagon or the range, and you will find that he is making less than 15 per cent. on the sale.

How can these firms sell so low?

Because they take a popular farm wagon, and go to one firm and buy the wheels, and another and buy the bed, and another the seat, so on. These parts are assembled at one of their warehouses and made into a wagon, every part of which has been cheapened in the buying of separate parts. Two coats of paint will cover most any defect in the wood. A little cheaper steel or iron on this part and that part will lessen the cost 60 cents to $1.00. And when the wagon is complete you have a wagon that looks like its counterpart, but is cheaper by $5.00 or $10.00.

And so with every article in their catalogues. Even in dress goods they can cause a few cotton threads to appear here and there in the weaving and save a few cents on the yard.

I want every patron of these mail order houses to consider thoughtfully before they buy from them again.—W. B. Powell, in American Advertiser.

Healthy Mothers.

Mothers should always keep in good bodily health. They owe it to their children. Yet it is no unusual sight to see a mother, with babe in arms, coughing violently and exhibiting all the symptoms of a consumptive tendency. And why should this dangerous condition exist, dangerous alike to mother and child, when Dr. Boscbee's German Syrup would put a stop to it at once? No mother should be without this old and tried remedy in the house—for its timely use will promptly cure any lung, throat or bronchial trouble in herself or her children. The worst cough or cold can be speedily cured by German Syrup; so can hoarseness and congestion of the bronchial tubes. It makes expectoration easy, and gives instant relief and refreshing rest to the cough-racked consumptive. New trial bottles, 25; large size, 75c. At all druggists. H. Alex Stoke.

Quick Arrest.

J. A. Gullidge, of Verbena, Ala., was twice in the hospital from a severe case of piles causing 24 tumors. After doctors and all remedies failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly arrested further inflammation and cured him. It conquers aches and kills pain. 25c at H. Alex Stoke, Druggist.
